BEGIN HEARING IN BOULON CASE AT U.S COURT

Prosecution States Cause In Gaston, Williams And Wigmore Suit

CHARGES EXCHANGE DEALS

Claims Defendant Appropriated Profits On Speculations In Money Market

The preliminary hearing in the case of Mr. F. G. Boulon, former manager of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, who is being charged by that firm with the embezzlement of upwards of Tls. 25,000, was begun yesterday in the United States Court before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl, when Mr. W. S. Fleming made an opening statement for the prosecution and several withnesses were called.

Major C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney, and Mr. Fleming appeared for the prosecution, Major Holcomb announcing that Mr. Fleming would act as Special Assistant District Attorney, while Mr. Fleming also stated that he represented, with the consent of the District Attorney, the complainant firm and the National Surety Company, the defendant's bondsmen. Mr. R. S. Haskell appeared for Mr. Boulon.

The defendant is being prosecuted on nine charges alleging the embezzlement of varying amounts at different dates between June of 1919 and May 1 of this year. The charge originally rested upon ten counts, but one, found to be a duplication, was withdrawn yesterday.

STATE OUTLINES CASE

In stating the case for the prosecution, Mr. Fleming said:

"The defendant in this case is charged in the information with embezzlement of the funds of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore Far Eastern Division, Inc. The information in ten counts alleges ten different acts of embezzlement. As one of these counts, wherein the defendant is charged with embezzling Tls. 1,731.89 has been found on further investigation to be a duplication of a part of the charge contained in the first count of the information, wherein the defendant is alleged to have embezzled the sum of Tls. 12,250.54, the case will be presented on the nine counts only.

"The charges are brought under section 1926 of the Alaska Code. The total amount alleged to have been mis-appropriated is the sum of Tls. 25,685.28. The various amounts alleged to have been embezzled and the dates of the various defalcations are set forth specifically in the information.

"The complainants in this case, Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, Far Eastern Division, Inc., are a corporation organised under the laws of the State of Delaware, U.S.A., and they maintain an office and place of business at Shanghai, China. The defendant, Ferdinand G. Boulon, is an American citizen and during all of the time mentioned in the information was an agent and attorney of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore and as manager of their business in Shanghai, was in general charge of their affairs.

INVOLVES EXCHANGE DEALS

"The charges in this case have to do with the misappropriation of funds of the company resulting from profits on certain of these exchange transactions and the defendant's method of perpetrating the frauds upon the Company was as follows: Many different contracts for the purchase of gold, largely in sterling, were entered into with the banks on behalf of the company, and in the company's name. In the course of time, varying from a few days to several months, through market fluctuations, profits would be shown on certain of the purchases made. The defendant then from time to time where profits were shown, would re-sell to the banks the sterling previously purchased, and upon the profit resulting being credited by the banks, or paid by check of the bank, would appropriate the amounts realised, to his own account.

"On or about October first of this year Mr. William H. Swift Jr., the vice-president of the company arrived in Shanghai in connection with the company's business, and he directed an investigation of the defendant's accounts. It appeared from the books that a large number of the items alleged to have been embezzled had been withdrawn from the company's funds by the defendant. It appeared, also, that other items included in the charges before the Court were en-

Cancel Japan's Privileges Under 21 Demands, Is Advice Of Dr. C. T. Wang

Advisor To S. M. C. Declines To Take Leadership Of Pact Commission

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 3.—Mr. C. T. Wang entertained 15 Chinese journalists at a tea in his temporary residence in the Hsu Chi Yang Hang on San Tiao Hutung yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wang stated, in regard to his appointment by the Foreign Minister W. W. Yen, to the headship of the Treaty Investigation Commission that he had decided not to take up the post, and in fact had never committed himself to do so, but had come to the capital to talk the matter over. Although not declining official connection with the commission, he expressed himself as willing and glad to assist with his advice, and any information which he gathered while participating in the treaty negotiations in Europe.

SUPREMACY OF JAPAN

Dr. Wang expressed his views on the present diplomatic situation of China, emphasising that the most important move for China at the present moment is the obtaining of the official cancellation of all privileges obtained by Japan under the 21 demands.

A territorial or other sacrifice by China to secure this end would be well worth while, as, in the opinion of Dr. Wang, this is a matter before which questions are minor and partial issues, and without which China cannot occupy a vantage point in the League of Nations. Newspapermen should pay more attention to this basis of Japan's supremacy over China, and less to partial issues.

DEVELOP INDUSTRY

Dr. Wang is convinced that industrial development is more needed than politics to strengthen the nation, and expressed his determination to devote his time in the future to this line, establishing himself in Shanghai, where he has been elected as one of the Chinese advisors to the Shanghai Municipal Council.

It is generally believed that C. T. Wang's declination of office in Peking is fundamentally due to the opposition of his friends of the south, and particularly of the "constitutional" faction.

Several professionals will also perform. The list of patrons includes Magistrate Kwan Chun, Chu Pao-san, Yu yah-ching, Wang Yi-ting and others.

PIRATICAL GANG CAPTURES BOAT OFF HONGKONG

Crew And Passengers Being Held For Ransom By Outlaw Rovers

(Reuter's Service)

Hongkong, November 5.—A case of piracy is reported from this locality. It seems that a gang of 10 pirates, supposed to be disbanded Chinese soldiers, attacked the steam launch Tak Hing, while on its way from Chinese territory to Hongkong, and forced the passengers and crew into the hold at the point of their revolvers. They then compelled the coxswain to cruise in search of other victims. Later the pirates fell in with the steam launch Tak Lee, from which they replenished their coal supply.

The pirates proceeded to transfer their victims to three junks, manned by confederates, and these sailed off. On Wednesday evening the pirates encountered a big junk, which fired on the Tak Hing, whereupon the latter retreated. The pirates ransacked the Tak Hing, their booty consisting of two revolvers, a quantity of ammunition, 14 cases of sugar and money.

The crew and passengers of the Tak Hing are being held to ransom.

British Chamber Discuss Transportation Questions; Sessions Will End Today

Another list of resolutions touching important subjects related to British commercial interests in the Far East were adopted at yesterday's—the third day's sessions—of the conference of British Chamber of Commerce in China and Hongkong. The conference, which is the second that has been held, has been in progress at the British Supreme Court since Wednesday and will come to a conclusion with tomorrow morning's session.

Among other matters dealt with yesterday were a number of resolutions concerning transportation questions in China. One resolution provides that the British Chambers will give all support to the Chinese railway authorities to effect improvements in the freight service and extension to railways. Other resolutions of like character relate to such subjects as "Rail standardisation" 'Mail Service' "Defining the word 'Shipment.'"

In a brief resolution adopted yesterday the general purposes of the New Consortium were commended and approved. Another resolution cutlines methods by which British educational and medical mission work will be supported by the associated British commercial bodies.

GUESTS OF UNION CLUB

A spirit of goodwill prevailed at a tea party held at the Union Club yesterday when prominent Chinese merchants greeted the delegates to the annual conference of the British Chambers of Commerce as guests of the local British Chamber.

Speeches were made by Mr. A. W. Burkill, chairman of the Chamber and Mr. Ching Chen-ching, vice-chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce. Both speeches were interpreted by Mr. N. Y. Chang, secretary of the Chinese Chamber.

International co-operation for commercial success was the keynote of an eloquent appeal made by Mr. Burkill. After stating the object of the organisation of the Union Club, which was to promote trade relations between Chinese, British and other nationalities, the speaker pointed out that was a unique opportunity for bringing together leading Chinese and British merchants from all ports of China.

Mr. Burkill expressed appreciation of the presence of the Hon. R. H. Clive, the British Charge D'Affaires at Peking, and of the commercial and Consular authorities.

The general sentiment was that the Britisher is always slow in taking up new things, said Mr. Burkill. Some of the Chinese merchants thought that they were too cautious. But the speaker believed that such caution was commendable and it was better to pace slowly.

WAR BRINGS CHANGE

But the war has brought about a change, continued Mr. Burkill. The British Chambers of Commerce in all the treaty ports of China have organised. To make their influence carry weight, the chambers endeavor to voice their views as one body. The result is that they were here for the second annual conference since the inauguration of the association of chambers.

"Some of the Chinese may wonder what we have been discussing," said Mr. Burkill. "Our principal aim is to discuss matters of equal interest and benefit to both countries."

Mr. Burkill then mentioned three of the interesting questions which were discussed at the meetings, namely currency reforms, congestion of traffic along the railways especially on the Northern lines and improvement of the Upper Yangtsze in order to have river traffic all the year round.

"While these are only three of the many important questions we

HAICHOW WILL SPEND $6,000,000 ON NEW HARBOR

Belgian Engineer Arrives At Northern Port To Make Improvement Plans

Longhai Line Is To Be Built By Use Of Labor From Famine Districts

(China Press Correspondence)

Haichow, Ku., October 29.—A Belgian engineer arrived here last week accompanied by his family. They were entertained for several days at the Military Yamen, and are now located at Hsu Keo, a place about 15 miles from Haichow.

He informs us that in a short time he will be followed by a company of Dutch engineers, and work on the harbor will begin at once.

The expenditure is to be $6,000,000 and it is to be the finest harbor in China. Certainly the natural facilities are of the best, but it is a huge undertaking, and remains to be seen if it will be carried through.

From the same source we learn that the Longhai Railroad is soon to be an accomplished fact. Work is to begin at Hsuchowfu immediately, using famine refugee labor, and it is expected the railroad will be finished by 1922.

Urga Is Shelled By Russian Army; Foreigners In Peril

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Nov. 5.—The stockholders of the Chinese Eastern Railway met this afternoon to elect their new board of directors

News from Urga indicates that the city was being shelled from a distance of one or two miles. Fear is being felt here for the Americans, Mills and Maclaughlan and the British resident, Mr. Miles.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 2.—The latest message from Garrison Commander Chu Chi-hsiang at Urga states that he was again attacked on the 27th by three routes and only through great difficulty repulsed the enemy. The enemy occupied Tamo and Taoching to the south, blocking the Urga-Kalgan road and cutting off telegraphic communications.

A telegram from Chang Chinghwei, Tutung of Charhar, dated October 30, says that favorable reports have been received from Taolin and Wuteh, where Chinese troops are engaging the Russians. Chen Yi, High Mongolian Commissioner, has arrived at Urga, and wired for motor-cars, reinforcements and funds.

The Tuchun of Sinkiang, Yang Tsen-hsin, has also sent a message stating that new troops are being levied.

MINERS ADVISED BY CONFERENCE TO RESUME WORK

Two-thirds Majority To Continue Strike Is Lacking In Vote

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 4.—According to the Figaro, the result of the British miners vote on the question of accepting the settlement terms was as follows: In favor of acceptance, 338,045 votes; against, 346,504. A majority of two-thirds being necessary for the continuance of the strike, the miners' conference has declared the strike off, and advised the miners to resume work immediately.

London, November 3.—The result of the coal ballot shows that Northumberland and Derbyshire voted for the acceptance of the terms and South Wales against acceptance.

RUSSIANS MAKE THREATS AGAINST SHIPS OF BRITAIN

Lord Curzon Tells Of Soviet Hostility Against Entente On Black Sea

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 3.—Lord Curzon, replying to M. Krassin's note, requesting the withdrawal of orders to British warships in the Baltic and the Black Sea to attack Soviet submarines, stated that the belief of the British Government with regard to the aggressive intentions of Soviet submarines was based on the open avowal of a Soviet Minister, when launching a submarine in the Black Sea, that he hoped that it would sink an Entente vessel.

He added that the fears of the Government were confirmed by the vague statement, contained in M. Krassin's Note, by which a Soviet submarine commander who desired to torpedo British ships would be provided with an excuse of mistaken identity.

Lord Curzon further pointed out that the Soviet forces on the Black Sea were still engaged in open hostility against British interests, in which submarines might at any time be engaged.

Plebiscite May Be Held In Greece To Decide On Ruler

(Reuter's Wireless Service)

Paris, November 4.—There is reason to believe that the pro-Constantine opposition in Greece is seeking to use the reply of Prince Paul to the offer of the throne as a pretext for claiming that the question of succession should be determined by a plebiscite.

The pro-Venizelos press, on the other hand, points out that the constitution provides for the election of King by the Chamber, a three-fourths majority of votes being requisite.

Meeting Significant As Chinese Refused To Participate In Tokio

About forty delegates to the Sunday School Convention which has just concluded its session in Japan arrived in Shanghai last night by the 9 o'clock train and were motored to the Astor House.

They will hold a two-day convention here primarily for the Chinese, who sent no delegates to the Sunday School Convention because it was held in Japan. The convention here will be open to foreigners.

The program of the convention will be replete with unique features. It will begin with a tiffin this noon at the Great Eastern Hotel. One hundred have been invited. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. L. D. Chow, chairman of the Shanghai Pastors' Union, Mr. David Z. T. Yui, general secretary of the National Committee, Y.M.C.A. and the response will be made on behalf of the visitors by Mr. Franck L. Brown and the Rev. E. Evermeyer.

Following this noon day function, the delegates will go to the Y.M.C.A. athletic field, off North Szechuen Road, where they will be met by possibly six or seven thousand Chinese, representing the Sunday schools and churches of the city. The program here will begin at 3 o'clock. It will be in the nature of a general reception. The chairman will be the Rev. T. C. Wu, of the Haining Road Baptist Church, the executive secretary of the committee.

As the different church groups arrive, they will be ushered to assigned sections. Music will be rendered by the Shanghai Orphanage brass band, the Church of

The Why Of The New Consortium

In order that the general public may have a clearer conception of the New Consortium's ideas in respect to its relationship to China the following expressions are quoted from the final Consortium agreement of October 15:

"The said national groups are of the opinion that interests of the Chinese people can in existing circumstances best be served by the co-operative action of the various banking groups representing the investment interests of their respective countries in procuring for the Chinese Government the capital necessary for a program of economic reconstruction and improved communications. With these objects in view the respective national groups are prepared to participate on equal terms in such undertakings as may be calculated to assist China in the establishment of her great public utilities and to these ends to welcome the co-operation of Chinese capital."

It may furthermore be noted with reference to the land tax that this source of revenue was simply noted by the Consortium for future consideration should the occasion ever arise.

JUST PLAIN FELLOW, NEXT PRESIDENT'S SELF VIEW

Election Is Not Personal Victory, Harding Tells His Men

MILLER WINNER

Late Returns Show That Republican Will Govern N.Y.

(Reuter's Service)

Marion, Ohio, November 3.—Senator Harding stated that he was not exultant at his victory but was more given to pray God to make him capable of playing his part. He declared that the victory was not a personal one but a renewed expression of confident Americanism and a national call to the Republican Party.

Senator Harding intends to take an immediate vacation trip to Isable, Texas, later going on to Panama.

Replying to a committee from his newspaper, who presented him with a golden printer's make-up rule, Senator Harding, with tears running down his cheeks, said that he was going to be honest with everybody. He added that he was "just a plain, ordinary fellow" but could be "on the square."

MILLER WINS NEW YORK

New York, November 3.—Mr. Miller, Republican has been elected Governor of New York in succession to Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democrat.

It appears that Senator Harding's victory is greater even than most optimistic anticipated. He won all the doubtful States except Kentucky and his majority was nearly 6,000,000, which is a record.

California, which in 1916 decided the election in favor of President Wilson, has given Senator Harding a 400,000 majority.

BIG G. O. P. SENATE LEAD

Paris, November 4.—According to the latest advices from New York, Senator Harding has obtained a total of 391 electoral votes as against 140 for Governor Cox, in the United States presidential contest. The new Senate will comprise 57 Republicans and 39 Democrats.

Washington, November 4.—Stating that he was very disappointed and depressed, President Wilson said: "I cannot but feel confident that in some way, through some avenue which remains undisclosed at this moment, this country will act up to the highest concept of its duty."

WILSON ALOOF

The president has not yet tendered his congratulations to Senator Harding.

Secretary of State Colby has also expressed disappointment, while Senator Johnson asserts that the result of the vote means an end of the League of Nations.

Senator Reed, a Democratic irreconcilable, declared that the fight on the League of Nations was a tragic mistake which had held up the Democratic party.

Admiral W. H. H. Southerland, former Commander-in-Chief of the Pacific Fleet, who played an important part in Senator Harding's election, is now mentioned as a possible Secretary of the Navy in the new Cabinet.

HARDING'S BIRTHDAY

London, November 3.—Senator Harding's triumph came as the most splendid event possible to celebrate his 55th birthday yesterday.

Speculation is already busy with regard to the composition of the Republican Cabinet. It is pretty certain that Mr. Hoover, the famous wartime International Food Controller, will assume a portfolio, while the respected veteran Senator, Elihu Root, is a public favorite for the Secretaryship of State, although his acceptance is questionable.

Mr. Myron Herrick, ex-Ambassador in Paris, will probably replace Mr. John W. Davis as Ambassador to Great Britain.

PROBE NAVY YARDS

Washington, November 5.—A joint committee of the House and Senate Committee on Naval Affairs is leaving Washington tonight for the West Coast where they will investigate navy yard sites for projected naval developments. The expansion program was authorised at the last session of Congress. The committee is to report in Washington

PLAN DIRECT LINE TO PORTLAND FOR FAST MAILS TO U.S.

China-Pacific Company Will Assure 21-Day Service If Shippers Aid

What promises to be a new mail service between Shanghai and the United States is indicated in the two direct sailings of the steamers West Nivaria and West Keats. The west Nivaria left Shanghai on October 2 with 195 sbacks of mail and arrived in Portland, Oregon, on October 23, thus completing the journey in 21 days. The West Keats sailed from Portland on October 23 direct for Shanghai with 103 sacks of mail on board and is due here next Saturday or Sunday. This is the next fastest mail service after that of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services.

The West Keats and West Nivaria are operated by the China Pacific Company, 6 Kiukiang Road, which operates a regular freight service between Portland, Oregon, and the Orient. It is expected that provided sufficient inducement offers to schedule each of the company's vessels on the direct route between Portland and Shanghai this mail service will become a regular one.

Danube Conference Appointing Its Aides

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 4.—The International Danube Conference assembled at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Selection of the higher officials of the International Commission formed the subject of its deliberations, and it was decided that those appointed and paid by it should be placed at the heads of the various technical services, such as the inspection of navigation, accounting, etc. The next sitting has been called for tomor-on December 2 for a conference on the proposed developments.

St. Paul, Minnesota, November 5.—Andrew J. Volstead, Republican, has been re-elected to Congress from Minnesota. He was author of the act under which the prohibition amendment is enforced.

Chicago, Illinois, November 5.—Returns indicate that the next Senate will be composed of 58 Republicans and 37 Democrats.

Paris, November 5.—Paris newspapers are devoting columns of space to Harding's election. The Excelsior devoted its entire front page today to pictures of the President-elect and his family. The newspaper referred to the speeches Harding had made in which he always asserted great sympathy for France.

PARIS OPINION

Paris editors are unanimous in remarking that the election of Harding clearly condemns Wilson's policies and then expressed the conviction that the result will not prejudice Franco-American friendship.

The Echo de Paris expressed the hope that new relations of the United States to the League of Nations will provide occasion to remedy some of the mistakes made by various committees at Versailles.

New York City, November 5.—Governor Alfred E. Smith has congratulated Governor-elect Nathan L. Miller, ex-Judge of the Court of Appeals, on his election.

Columbus, Ohio, November 5.—Robert Taft, son of Ex-president William Howard Taft, has been elected to the Ohio House of Representatives from the Cincinatti District.

HOLD CELEBRATION

Marion, Ohio, November 5.—The entire city turned out today in the "home-town" celebration of Harding's victory. Thousands paraded by the home of the President-elect with six bands while Harding greeted them from the now historic front porch. The parade was led by a girl who was attached to Harding's headquarters during the campaign.

Harding made a speech, thanking his admirers for their congratulations and pledging himself to accept the responsibility placed upon him.

Marion, Ohio, November 5.—President-elect and Mrs. Harding will make a vacation trip to Point Isabel, Texas. They will be accompanied by Senators Joseph F. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and Frederick Hale of Maine, Mr. Edward McLean, the Washington publisher; Mr. Harry M. Daugherty, Harding's campaign manager; Dr. C. Sawyer, the Harding family physician, secret service men, newspapermen and photographers.

Veteran To Select Unknown Warrior For French Rites

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 4.—The Petit Parisien publishes the announcement of M. Maginot, Minister of Pensions, regarding the manner in which the "unknown soldier" who is to be reinterred in the Pantheon on November 11 will be chosen.

In each of the nine regions where the heaviest fighting occurred during the war, the body of a soldier known to be French, but whose personal identity it has been impossible to establish, will be exhumed. After being placed in coffins of oak, the nine bodies will be taken to the Citadel of Verdun.

There a company of infantry, composed entirely of veterans, will act as a guard of honor and observe the customary rites. A soldier of the company, selected by the Minister, will leave the ranks and choose from among the coffins that which is to be laid in the Pantheon.

London, November 3.—It has now been arranged that the body of the "unknown warrior," who will be buried at Westminster Abbey of November 11, will be conveyed to England on board the French destroyer Verdun on November 10 and will repose in a temporary chapel at Victoria Station during the night.

The inscription on the coffin will be "A British Warrior who fell in the Great War of 1914-18 for his King and Country."

RECEPTION IS GIVEN IN HONOR OF DR. FREEMAN

Pastor Of Community Church And His Wife Are Welcomed To Settlement

Doctor Luther Freeman, pastor of the newly organized Community Church, and Mrs. Freeman were formerly welcomed to Shanghai by the American Community yesterday afternoon at a reception tendered them in the banquet hall of the Palace Hotel. Not only did Americans bid them welcome, but many British friends greeted them as well.

The large room was artistically decorated with banks of palms, white and yellow crysanthemums. At intervals a stringed trio furnished the music. Dainty refreshments were served by the older girls of the American School.

In the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Freeman and their daughter, were Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Sites, Judge and Mrs. C. S. Lobingier, Mrs. T. E. Doremus, Acting Consul-General and Mrs. M. P. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Paget, Bishop and Mrs. L. J. Birney.

Dr. Freeman has come from the Emery Methodist Episcopal Church of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; leaving one of the largest Methodist churches in the States to become the first pastor of the former American Song Service. It seemed most appropriate that the reception sould be held in the banquet hall of the Palace Hotel, for there the Song Service met after it had outgrown the first few members who used to gather in private homes.

The hotel management extended to the reception committee, of which Mrs. Robert Beebe was chairman, the same hospitable service which it gave to former Song Service. To Mr. Milo for his personal interests in yesterday's reception and his generous, wholehearted co-operation the members feel especially indebted.

Friendly Relations With Great Britain Assured Says Temps

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 1 (delayed).—The Temps expresses deep satisfaction at the favorable turn of the negotiations between Britain and France respecting the best way of insuring that the provisions of the Peace Treaty shall be carried out, and at the friendly spirit in which the negotiations are being conducted.

The article concludes by saying: "The efforts that are being made in some quarters in Great Britain in favor of Germany are not likely to meet with support from public opinion, it being obviously in the interest of both Nations to settle quietly any little difference, and to preserve intact the result of their common sacrifices."

BRITISH TO AID RESTORATION OF RHEIMS EDIFICE

Queen Alexandra Expresses Her Desire To Assist In Great Work

(Reuter's Wireless Service)

Paris, November 4.—A meeting was held in London on Thursday, under the chairmanship of the Lord Mayor, in furtherance of a movement for organising a subscription from the British Empire towards the restoration of Rheims Cathedral.

Queen Alexandra sent a letter, expressing her warm interest in the project. "I cannot," she wrote, "conceive any work more pressing than that of restoring the beautiful cathedral which suffered so greatly during the war, and of restoring it not only as a lasting monument to the memory of those who so nobly sacrified their existence, but as a proof of the bonds of sympathy that unite our country with the great French Republic."

The Duke of Portland, as President of the Committee, delivered a stirring address. He announced that he had received a letter from Marshal Foch, expressing the gratitude of the French nation to those who were organising the movement. The Archbishop of Canterbury and Cardinal Bourne also spoke in favor of the restoration.

Premier Says China Is Bankrupt But Plans For Reform Are Laid

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Nov. 5.—In a two-hour interview that the Premier granted tonight to 30 foreign and Chinese newspapermen he admitted that China is bankrupt. He added that while the military departments of the government are months in arrears in their finances reforms that have been planned are calculated to inspire confidence in the Chinese people. The Premier advanced a number of points to justify the recent reunification mandate.

On the subject of the New Consortium he declared that if its conditions are found to be prejudicial to the sovereignty of the country or tend to restrict the administration of the government its proposals never will be accepted. He expressed the belief that if the need arises the Chinese people will come forward with financial aid and said that for this reason a foreign loan is not really vital to the continued existence of the government.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 2.—The President and Cabinet ministers are holding conferences to discuss questions relating to reconstruction to follow the promulgation of the reunification mandates. The government is endeavoring to provide election arrangements which will eliminate political influence or corruption from the coming parliamentary elections. A Presidential mandate on the elections is to promulgate these regulations.

An important question is the liquidation of the finances and affairs of the southern government. Officials are to be despatched to take over the documents of the government. Army and navy authorities are working on the reincorporation of the military and naval forces of the now incorporated Kwangsi faction.

SHAW SENDS WORD FROM SEOUL THAT HE IS LIBERATED

Bail Granted To Antung Briton Arrested Last July By Japanese In Korea

Mr. George L. Shaw, the widely known Antung merchant and British subject, whose arrest and imprisonment by the Japanese authorities in Korea has become a subject of international importance, has been set free at Seoul under bail bond, according to a message that was received in Shanghai yesterday from Mr. Shaw himself.

The message, which was received by a firm here that Mr. Shaw represents in northern China, is somewhat cryptic. Its text is as follows:

BAIL IS GRANTED

"Bail-granted-yesterday-preliminary examination-undecided-staying here-present-grateful-thanks-best-wishes-kindly-inform-press-Shaw."

It has been understood here that the preliminary examination in Mr. Shaw's case has been in progress for several weeks, as set forth in an article by Mr. Junius B. Wood of the Chicago Daily News that was published in THE CHINA PRESS yesterday.

The phrase in the message 'preliminary examination undecided' is therefore probably open to several interpretations, but is taken to mean that no decision has yet been reached as an outcome of the preliminary examination.

Mr. Shaw, who is probably the leading foreign commercial figure of northern China, as his firm represents a half hundred foreign commercial enterprises and does a business aggregating $2,000,000 a year, is a resident of Antung on the Yalu river, the boundary line between Korea and China.

ARRESTED AT SHINGISHU

He was arrested on July 11 last at the town of Shingishu in Korea when he was returning to Antung with his wife, having entered Korean territory to meet her without a passport.

The charge that has been laid against him by the Japanese authorities is alleged to have been committed in Chinese territory, in Antung. Mr. Shaw is accused of having encouraged Korean revolutionists; with having used his business office in Antung as a meeting place for Korean revolutionists; with having imported or manufactured bombs, munitions and incendiary reading matter for distribution in Korea and Japan, and with having smuggled Korean conspirators across the border aboard his ships on the Yalu.

While columns of published matter have been devoted to the subject of the arrest and it has been a topic of discussion before the British Parliament, it has also been held by legal authorities that the case involves a point of international law of the highest importance to all foreigners in the Far East and particularly to Britons and Americans.

Boulon Case Has First Hearing In U.S. Court

tered on the books as having been paid to Chinese, as profits result... from exchange contracts. It further appeared that the defendant was claiming from the company the sum of 12,000 taels said by him to have been loaned to the company, also a certain balance of salary and a certain amount as commissions. The total of the alleged loan and the amount of salary and commissions claimed aggregated, according to his own statement, Taels 15,000.00 and Gold $45,000.00—say roughly Taels 30,000.00.

EXPLANATION IS ASKED

"On or about October 12 or 14, 1920, the defendant was requested to attend at the offices of the company and in the presence of Mr. Charles Denby, a director of the company, Mr. Beeson, the assistant treasurer of the company, Mr. Swift and myself, he was requested to give an explanation of the accounts involved in the information here. He stated that the transactions were speculative transactions in exchange wherein the company purchased, partly for Chinese clients and partly for himself, sterling, which had afterwards been sold at a profit and that the profits had been paid to the Chinese concerned and to himself. His attention was particularly called to a certain check for Taels 12,250.00 dated June 25, 1920, and he was asked to explain it.

"He stated that this represented profits resulting from exchange bought and sold on behalf of Chinese clients and he gave the names of Yea Keng-yung and Yung Tai-chong, as the parties principally interested in the transaction. He stated that when the amount of profits was received from the bank, he had directed the check to be made out, and that as the company wanted the use of the money he had taken it to the Chinese concerned and paid the money to them and that he had arranged with them to transfer the amount into native bank orders and that on his own account he had borrowed from them the same amount which he in turn had loaned to the company.

CHINESE LOAN TO HIM

"He stated that the Chinese were not willing to loan the money to the company directly but they trusted him and were willing to loan it to him. He therefore gave the Chinese his receipts and in turn loaned the company the amount which he had received from the Chinese in exchange for the check. He had taken the native bank orders, deposited them in the bank to the company's account and had himself credited on the books of the company with the sum of Taels 12,000.00 as a loan from himself to the company.

"The defendant had all along claimed and stoutly maintained at the time of this interview that this was a bona fide loan from himself. He offered to furnish a written report on the matter and was requested to make the same up and hand it in as soon as possible.

"An investigation of the matter further disclosed that neither Yung Tai-chong nor Yea Kong-yung had any interest whatever in the exchange contracts through which the profits of Taels 12,250.00 had been derived; that they had not authorised the purchase of exchange for them as represented by the defendant, and that they had not received from the defendant as their funds, any portion of the proceeds of the check.

SHROFF TO TESTIFY

"The Court will hear from Mr. Tsu, who is a shroff of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, and the owner of the hong known as Yung Tai-chong, that at the time the check was issued he was requested by Mr. Boulon to sign certain receipts, the receipts representing the payment of this sum of money, that he suspected the transaction was irregular and told the defendant that he didn't want to do it, but the defendant stated that it was to secure a profit on exchange contracts; that he had no right to do this business in the name of the firm and that he wanted Mr. Tsu to sign the papers in order that he might put it through without getting into trouble. He then gave the check to Mr. Tsu and asked him to have it exchanged for native orders. Mr. Tsu replied that he had not funds available to do this himself and he was then requested to take it to Yea Kong-yung and have them make the exchange. Mr. Tsu did so and that very day obtained from Yea Kong-yung three bank orders for Taels 8,000, Taels 2,000 and Taels 2,000, respectively, which bank orders he immediately returned to Boulon.

"The next day he received and paid to Mr. Boulon the balance of the amount due for the Taels 12,250.00 check (in Mexican dollars, less Taels 8.40, which Yea Kong-yung charged as interest and coolie hire in connection with the transaction.

INVESTIGATION MADE

An investigation of the matter at the office of Yea Kong Yung showed that the transaction had been carried through their office exactly as had been represented by Mr. Tsu; that they had merely received and credited Mr. Tsu with the check, returned him the bank orders and cash, as previously stated, and had no interest in the transaction whatever. They also stated that they had not had any speculative contracts of exchange with Customs, Williams and Wigmore; they had never received any cash profits in exchange contracts with Gaston Williams and Wigmore; they had not authorised them to purchase the exchange from which these profits were derived; that Mr. Boulon had never arranged to borrow from them this sum of money; and, in short, that they had no interest in it whatever except to deliver native bank orders against the check of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, as requested by Mr. Tsu, for his accomodation alone, and for no other purpose. All of these facts will be proven in evidence.

OTHER TRANSACTIONS

"Another transaction which justifies special mention forms the basis of the second change in the information. The facts connected with this matter are as follows: On June 22, 1920, the company purchased from the Asia Banking Corporation at Shanghai, the sum of £10,000. On June 25, 1920, the company sold the same amount to the Russo-Asiatic Bank. These transactions resulted in a profit to the company of Taels 1,333.71. Upon the purchase of the exchange the Russo-Asiatic Bank drew a check in favor of the company for Taels 40,677.97. This was delivered to the Asia Banking Corporation in settlement of the amount of Taels 39,344.26, due them on their sale to the company under the company's contract to purchase the £10,000. The Asia Banking Corporation then delivered a check for Taels 1,333.71 drawn in favor of the company and representing the profits in the transaction. This check was thereupon endorsed in the name of the company by the use of a rubber stamp and the signatures of the defendant and A. Jones, the company's accountant.

"The check was then taken by the defendant—he added his personal endorsement—and the amount of the same appropriated by him. Not a single entry connected with this transaction appears on the company's books, although the check of the Russo-Asiatic Bank was made in favor of the company and should have passed through the company's books, and likewise with the check of the Asia Bank, not to mention the necessity of recording the purchase and the sale of sterling by the company. Further than this in order to avoid the necessity of passing the check of the Asia Banking Corporation for the profit through the books of the company, the defendant arranged for an irregular endorsement of the same. The company's invariable practice had been to endorse all checks drawn in their favor with a rubber stamp which contains the words.

"For deposit only. Gaston, Williams and Wigmore Far Eatsern Division, Inc."

and which of necessity requires that the check be deposited in the company's bank account. In order to avoid this the defendant required the accountant, Arthur Jones, to use another stamp which had never been used for the purpose of endorsing checks, and to sign the endorsement with himself. In this instance, as in the case of the check for Taels 12,250, the means resorted to for the purpose of concealing the transaction clearly indicated the defendant's intention.

OTHER CHARGES SIMILAR

"The other charges in the information grow out of similar frauds perpetrated by the defendant. The amounts alleged to have been embezzled represent also profits on exchange contracts. Some of them the defendant had stated, when called upon to explain, were profits to the Chinese on speculative transactions on exchange for the company, or, similarly, to him on his own transactions carried on in the name of the company. And in the written report which he furnished as promised in the interview, he still maintained that these transactions were largely for Chinese clients.

"After the information was filed in this case he sought and obtained on Oct. 23, an interview with Mr. Swift at which time Mr. Ferguson was also present, and in the course of this interview he admitted eight out of the ten charges contained in the information and claimed that the other two items did not concern him but referred to Arthur Jones, the accountant. He made no further pretence of certain of the transactions, as for instance the 12,250 tael item, having been for the benefit of and the profits paid to Chinese.

OFFER MADE TO SETTLE

"He stated that he was wrong and offered to settle his account with the company upon the basis of offsetting the company's claims against him for the accounts mentioned in the information against the claims he had been making against the company for Taels 15,000.00 and Gold $15,000.00, which he said would about offset each other, leaving possibly a balance of about Taels 1,000.00 in his favor. We thus have from him a frank admission of the fact that the items alleged to have been embezzled as set forth in the information, with two exceptions, were the company's funds and not his.

"Certain other circumstances will be proven in evidence which at least are worthy of mention here.

"Fraudulent notations were made on a number of the contracts of exchange intended to indicate that they were made for the benefit of Chinese. Many of the contracts of exchange when made with the banks were not properly entered into the books of the company and all of them in which the profits were taken by the defendant were held by him until the profits were realised, whereupon he directed the accountant to make book entries. One of them was in his possession as late as October of this year, although his authority as manager had been suspended a month or more earlier.

"Up to the time the information was filed against him the defendant stoutly maintained that the company was indebted to him on the alleged loan of Taels 12,000, and that there was in all about Taels 30,000 due him over and above all off-sets which the company had against him."

Mr. H. Beeson, assistant treasurer of the company, was called as a witness and gave testimony regarding the exchange purchases and sales, the prosecution offering in evidence memoranda of the transactions. The Chinese shroff, Mr. Tsu, was also called in corroboration of Mr. Fleming's statements, and other witnesses were Mr. G. S. V. Bidwell, cashier of the Russo-Asiatic Bank, and Mr. Francisco Baptista, chief ledger clerk of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, who identified certain of the documents.

Late in the afternoon the hearing was adjourned until this morning.

BRUN SUICIDE, IS VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY

A verdict of suicide by drowning while temporarily deranged was returned last night by the coroner's jury investigating the death of William H. Brun, former advertising solicitor of the Shanghai Mercury. The hearing, which was before U.S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl, occupied nearly two hours and was marked by sensational testimony given by Mrs. Minnie Brun, who said she was the wife of the dead man.

Mrs. Brun testified that her husband threatened to commit suicide because he was jealous of her and she said that trouble with others in the office of the Mercury and her physical condition worried him greatly.

INSURANCE CLAIM

Evidence was introduced that about a week ago inquiries concerning Mr. Brun were made by the local police at the request of Messrs. Fleming, Davies and Bryan, acting for the attorneys of a life insurance company in New York. Mr. R. T. Bryan, Jr., testified that a claim had been made for $21,000 insurance carried by Mr. Brun, his beneficiary claiming that he was dead. The company fought the claim and Mr. Bryan said that Mr. Brun promised to call at his office Monday morning to sign an affidavit that photographs sent here by the insurance company were pictures of himself. He disappeared Sunday night and no trace was found until his body was recovered from the Whangpoo.

Detective Sergeant R. W. Yorke of the Central Police Station told of the police search for Mr. Brun and testified that he left a letter addressed to the Shanghai Mercury requesting the newspaper to pay any money due him to his wife, or in the event of her death, to his son.

WIDOW TESTIFIES

In answers to questions from District Attorney Chauncey P. Holcomb Mrs. Brun said that some time ago Mr. Brun had taken her to the Bund, where he dramatically threw his watch into the river and threatened to drown himself. She said he had been worried about something for nearly a year and that he was unable to sleep.

Mr. William J. Davey, manager of the Shanghai Mercury, Ltd., told the coroner and jury that since last Thursday Mr. Brun had seemed crest-fallen and sad.

Other witnesses were Detective Sub-Inspector Prosser of Wayside Station and Inspector Thomas Mellows of the River Police, who told of finding and identifying the body, and Dr. Frank W. Baldwin, who made the post-mortem examination.

The coroner's jury was: Messrs. James MacDonnell, Thomas R. Scanlon, V. G. Lyman, Edwin J. Statler, W. D. Harris and W. C. Gray.

Mexican Executed For Assassination Of U.S. Citizens

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Washington, November 5.—An un-named Mexican who was charged with the murder of two American citizens, Al Mosely and Guitave Salagar, has been executed after a summary trial, it was reported to the American Embassy at Mexico City by the Mexican Foreign Office. The State Department received the report from Mexico City today.

MORE MURDERS AND RAIDS TAKE PLACE IN ERIN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 3.—Outrages continue to be reported in an intensified form from Ireland today. The batch, received up to the present, gives three constables killed and a number wounded. Several further attempts were made without success. The court-house and police barracks in two centers were destroyed.

In the case of one murder a Limerick constable left his barracks to go to the village and did not return. His dead body was found half-naked this morning in a drain.

RAID AT DUBLIN

The environs of Dublin were again raided by the military yesterday evening and one arrest was made.

The question of Ireland was raised again in the House of Commons this afternoon when Mr. T. P. O'Connor attempted to obtain another debate on the "policy of reprisals" but he was unsuccessful.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, replying to Mr. O'Connor, said that a number of murders had taken place and that there had also been disturbances, consequent on the search for criminals. He had called for reports but in most cases the telegraph wires had been cut by criminals.

POLICE INDIGNANT

Sir Hamar Greenwood added that the police were in a state of great indignation in consequence of the assassination of their comrades.

Following on an attack on a military lorry at Athlone, in which three soldiers were wounded, men in uniform last night burned down and totally destroyed a large printing-works at Athlone. The damage is estimated at £100,000. Many of the inhabitants of the town have been thrown out of work.

Auction Bridge

BY R. F. FOSTER

(Author of "Foster on Auction," "Auction Made Easy," "Foster's Complete Hoyle," etc.)

The foundation for any original or free bid by the dealer, or by the second hand if the dealer passes, is four tricks, counting the high cards at their attacking value. Hands that are stronger than this we shall come to presently. The first thing to impress on the mind is that four tricks, unless unusually distributed, should be a bid. If the four are in a very short major suit, or in the two major suits, both of which are short, the holder must pass and await developments.

Four tricks is the minimum for a bid; but the minimum contract is seven. In order to carry out such a contract the three extra tricks must be found in the dummy. This is on the assumption, of course, that the hands will produce in play what they are worth in theory. Some hands that count for four will be worth a trick more; some a trick less, but they will work out to the average with astonishing precision.

While it is a simple matter to count up a hand and so to arrive at its value, it is quite another matter to get out of it all the tricks that are possible. The theory of the count does not vary, and the only thing that is likely to vary, not only materially but continually, is the ability of the players to get out of the hands all that there is in them.

If the original bid is based on four values and no more, the average for the dummy, or assisting hand, will be three, as that is his share, one-third, of the nine that remain to be decided, there being thirteen tricks to be won in every deal.

Leaving the initial declaration for the present, let us move across the table to the partner's position and take a look at the cards that will form the prospective dummy. If the initial bidder's hand contains only four tricks, we must be able to determine whether or not dummy has the three that will be necessary to fulfill the contract.

It is quite true that a dealer who starts with a bid of only one may have six or eight tricks in his hand, but his partner has no right to assume that he has any more than four. This being the basis of all sound logic in assisting bids, we come, naturally, to the statement that three of the tricks in the dummy have been discounted; have been included in the dealer's bid, and must not be counted on as worth anything in advancing the contract to a higher figure.

Overlooking this consideration, and regarding three of the tricks in dummy as worth nothing, so far as assisting is concerned, leads to more penalty scores at the card table than anything else in the game of auction. Almost every defeated contract has been unjustifiably assisted.

It is remarkable that so many persons who have played auction almost ever since it was invented, and who play at it almost everyday of their lives, either never stop to think or do not realise that three of the tricks in their hands are worth nothing if their partner makes the first bid. These three belong to the declarer and have been counted on by him.

In looking for these three tricks, in order to lay them aside, mentally, as it were, high cards in plain suits should be counted as usual, at their attacking values—aces worth two, kings one, and the combinations as already given. The only difference to remark is that if the adversaries call a suit any high cards in that suit drop at once to defensive value, or one-half.

The high cards in trumps, when the partner bids that suit, also drop to half their value. For the trump holding, the values vary with the number, and the following table should be carefully memorised and practiced with by dealing out hands:

DUMMY'S TRUMP VALUES

Three small trumps, or two, one as good as the queen, are worth nothing.

Four small trumps are worth a trick.

Three trumps, one as good as the queen, are worth a trick.

Four trumps, headed by two honors, are worth two tricks.

No combination of trumps is worth more than two tricks, as trumps.

When short in trumps, one or two small only, deduct a trick in counting up the hand.

The ability to ruff the first round of a suit is as good as an ace; two tricks.

The ability to ruff the second round of a suit is as good as a king; one trick.

The ability to ruff two rounds is as good as an ace and king, only when holding four trumps or more.

In future articles we shall see how these values work out in practice.

RESUME NEWBURY RACING

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 3.—The Jockey Club announces that racing will be resumed at Newbury on Friday.

12,000 Gotham Fans See Sharkey Scrap Lynch Exciting Draw

New York, September 28.—Joe Lynch of the West Side, and Jack Sharkey, local Italian, fought fifteen rounds to a draw before a crowd of 12,000 wildly excited fight enthusiasts tonight in Madison Square Garden.

At the end of the contest one judge voted in favor of Lynch, while the other declared for a draw. Referee Bill Brown under the circumstances refused to declare in favor of either, and rendered an official draw decision. Many at the ringside thought Lynch was entitled to a shade, but others favored Sharkey.

Sharkey lost a glorious chance in the third round. He sent Lynch to the canvas twice, once for a count of two and again for the doleful nine. The little Italian, however, was slow in following his advantage, wasting many valuable moments while Lynch recovered rapidly from the punishment.

In the fifth Sharkey again sent Lynch sprawling, but this time Joe disdained a count and jumped to his feet to resume the milling, which was interrupted by the gong. Sharkey's chance to win decisively disappeared after this session.

SHANGHAI CRICKETERS MEET HONGKONG IN FIRST MATCH OF TRI-PORT SERIES TODAY

Crown Colony Has Brilliant Program Of Entertainment For Visitors From North And South—Shanghai To Play Singapore Next Th ursday And Friday

By "Boundary"

Today, on the grounds of the Hongkong Cricket Club in the Crown Colony, the elevens representing that organisation and the Shanghai Cricket Club will oppose each other in the first innings of a two-day match, inaugurating the Tri-port Championships of 1920, between Hongkong, Shanghai and Singapore.

From all accounts the two elevens are quite evenly matched and a close contest, marked by fairly heavy scoring, should result. Neither team is unusually strong on defense, but each is well provided with "sluggers"—the kind who ordinarily account for quite a cluster of "fours," to say nothing of a few "bounderies" before permitting themselves to be retired.

Not a great deal is known regarding the strength or weakness of the team sent up from the Straits Settlements, further than its reputed ability to uphold the best traditions of Malaysian cricket; which means that they are likely to give both the Settlement and the Crown Colony players considerable trouble before yielding a match.

The Shanghai-Hongkong match will be concluded on Monday. Starting at ten o'clock the next morning Hongkong and Singapore will engage in a two-day match, while the Shankhai players assume the role of spectators.

SHANGHAI AND SINGAPORE

On Thursday and Friday next Shanghai and Singapore will try conclusions; while, on Saturday, the 13th, the winners of the round-robin will play a one-innings match with The Rest, for the undisputed title of champions of the Far East.

On Monday, the 15th, the Interport tennis championship matches, between Shanghai and Hongkong, will be begun, probably continuing through Tuesday. Thursday, the 18th, will find the Shanghai athletes on the Empress of Asia, en route for home.

SOCIAL CALENDER

Meanwhile the Crown Colony has prepared an interesting program of social events for the entertainment of their guests from north and south. Tomorrow evening there will be a United Service Concert in honor of the visitors, to be staged at the Theater Royal,, followed by a dance.

Tuesday evening will be marked by a "cricket dinner" at The Government House, followed on Wednesday evening by a dance on the H.M.S. Tamar. On Thursday evening, the 11th, the St. George Society will pay host at a big smoker-concert in honor of the visiting players; while Friday evening will find the cricketers and their friends attending a dinner dance given by "The Peak" Club.

THE "GRAND FINALE"

On Saturday night, the 13th, there will be another dinner-dance—this time at the Repulse Bay Hotel—while the "grand finale" will be held on the evening of the 15th (Monday) in the form of a banquet given under the auspices of the Hongkong Cricket Club, and at which the principal toast to be drunk will undoubtedly be to "The Champions!"

The Shanghai players were reported to have arrived in Hongkong on Thursday morning, all in fine shape, and have had ample time to get themselves fit for today's encounter.

EXCHANGE WILL CLOSE

Hongkonk, Nov. 5.—The results of the first day's play will be especially reviewed for The China Press by a member of the Shanghai eleven, and will appear in these columns tomorrow morning.

Hongkong, Nov. 5.—Next week, on account of the Interport cricket matches, the Stock Exchange will close at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday; while on Monday and Thursday it will be closed all day.

FAMINE RELIEF STAMPS BANNED BY COLLECTORS

Substitute Measure Offered At Annual Meeting Of Philatelic Society

Stamp collectors here as represented by the Shanghai Philatelic Society are strongly opposed to the issuance by the Chinese Government of any special or surcharge stamps for famine relief, as has been proposed, and emphatic expression to this stand was given yesterday at the annual meeting of the Society held in Bianchis tea rooms.

Special issues of postage stamps to raise emergency funds, it was urged at the meeting, frequently are brought out solely with the purpose of selling such stamps to collectors. As a counter-proposal to the project to issue special or surcharge stamps in China for famine relief it was suggested at the meeting that the Chinese Postal authorities merely should raise the prices of existing stamp issues. It was the opinion of the meeting that this suggestion should be presented to the Chinese postal authorities.

MEMBERS PRESENT

Mr. Juan Mencarini, President of the Society presided at yesterday's meeting and the others present were: Messrs. J. A. Smallbones, honorary treasurer, who acted as secretary in the absence of Dr. H. H. Morris, who is with the Shanghai cricket team in Hongkong, Charles Piens, A. Diercking, A. F. Mencarini, J. Em. Lemiere, W. A. Reed, Thomas Siddall, Editor and Publisher of 'Stamp Topics,' and Capt. G. G. Synnerberg, Commercial Attache of the Russian Legation.

The committee that is to serve for the ensuing year elected at the meeting is composed of Messrs. Smallbones, Diercking, Siddall, Piens, R. E. Scatchard and Captain Synnerberg. It was determined to eliminate a balloting committee and in future admit new members by having their names proposed and confirmed at succeeding meetings.

WILL ADMIT CHINESE

In connection with a general purpose to increase membership of the society, which now numbers some thirty-odd, the meeting placed itself on record of being in favor of admitting to membership Chinese philatelists.

Mr. Siddall's publication, Stamp Topics, devoted to subjects of interest to philatelists, was designated by the meeting as the official publication of the Shanghai society.

Another measure of interest to stamp collectors was the decision to issue as a publication of the society a handbook giving complete lists of existing Chinese stamps, in Chinese and English, that is to be brought out by Messrs. Diercking, Scratchard and Doctor Morris.

At yesterday's meeting the names of 17 new members were proposed.

Commission Named To Organise Courts Here For Russians

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 2.—Following the return of the Vice-Minister of Justice, Mr. Chang I-peng, from Manchuria, where he went to study judicial conditions with reference to the Russian population, a commission for studying the reorganisation of the Russian courts has been formed in the Ministry. Vice-Minister Chang is chairman, Mr. Wang Wen-pao, a department head in the Ministry, vice-Chairman, and Messrs. Yu Shao-tsung, Chien Tai, Hsu Lu, Wang Chai-tseng and Ching Tien-hsuan members. The commission holds conferences daily.

Speedy Settlement Of Nikolaievsk Affair Is Urged

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 2.—The Foreign Office is willing to accept in principle the Japanese demands with regard to Nikolaievsk massacre participation with the exception of the last demand, concerning reparation for the families or relatives of the dead. This demand is made upon the basis that Chinese, equally with Russians, were responsible for the massacre of a certain portion of the Japanese residents of Nikolaievsk, which is an assumption China will not admit.

No formal reply has yet been made to the Japanese Minister by the Foreign Office, although Minister Obata is urging a speedy settlement in the matter.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

have discussed at the conference," continued Mr. Burkill, "we can assure our Chinese friends that whatever we do discuss is of keen interest to them too. In matters like this without Chinese Assistance it is hopeless to carry out the aims of the association. Today is the day of co-operation. It is only by co-operation that these big matters can be placed before the Chinese Government and the government may be moved to take practical measures for their realisation. As you are representatives of important associations, I trust you will help us in our endeavors.

PROFIT TO CHINESE

"Of course, we are not disinterested parties. When trade improves, we are benefitted. I cannot do better than to quote the words uttered at one of our meetings by a gentleman who said: 'Where it meant $1 to the British, it meant $1,000 to the Chinese.'"

Mr. Burkill concluded by again expressing his desire for co-operation as it was only through co-operation that trade could come to this country and he thanked all the gentlemen present for their attendance.

Mr. Ching began by showing the cordial relationship long existing between China and foreign nations, especially Great Britain.

"It is gratifying to look back upon these relations which have been so friendly and cordial for decades," said he in part. "Throughout these decades, your dealings with us have been characterised by a spirit of fair play and sincerity. We appreciate the opportunity of meeting the delegates from all the China treaty ports to the conference of the British Chambers of Commerce. We predict that the results of your meetings will be fruitful and beneficial.

"Through your resolutions at the conference, we become acquainted with your views on different matters, commercial and otherwise. All your views, I am happy to say, are meeting with our hearty approval and endorsement.

"Friendship is improved by the duration of time. We sincerely hope that your sojourn here will be pleasant and will cement and perpetuate the cordial friendship already existing between the Chinese and British merchants."

About a hundred attended the function.

The resolutions passed at the third day's session were as follows:

MORNING SESSION

Educational Medical Mission Work

"That in view of the importance from a national standpoint of ensuring the adequate maintenance and development of British educational and medical work in China this Conference urges upon British merchants the necessity for unified effort to that end.

"As a means of applying the above principle the Conference recommends the adoption of the following proposals:

"(1) That the Associated Chambers shall entrust to a central committee the work of formulating proposals for the support of British educational institutions and Hospitals in China and of allocating such funds as may be contributed for the purpose.

"(2) That prior to the issue of an appeal to members of the Associated Chambers for contributions towards the above objects the said committee shall submit a statement showing the amounts which it considers to be urgently needed under each head, together with proposals as to the basis on which contributions placed at its disposal should be apportioned.

"(3) That a central fund be opened at Shanghai into which funds to be placed at the disposal of the above committee shall be paid.

"(4) That in view of the impossibility of dealing in an adequate manner with every phase of educational and medical work in China the committee's efforts shall be concentrated on the following lines:

"(a) The support of British schools giving a high-class secondary education to Chinese students.

"(b) Assistance to British Medical Missions in their present financial difficulties, due to unfavorable exchange rates and other causes, which threaten to interfere seriously with their philanthropic work in China.

"(5) That a certain proportion of the funds contributed be set aside as reserve fund from which contributions may be made for such charitable purposes, other than educational or medical work, as may seem to have a specially strong claim to the sympathy and assistance of British merchants in China.'

RAILWAYS IN CHINA

"That in view of the inability of the principal railways of China to handle satisfactorily the volume of cargo awaiting transport—which inability is due in part to faults in organisation and in part to lack of material—this Association desires to support the efforts of the railways authorities to

"(1) Improve their organisation in respect of prevention of fraud, more regular running of trains, and direct handling of cargo without recourse to transportation companies and

"(2) Obtain sanction for the expenditure necessary for the purchase of additional rolling stock, the building of more goods sheds and the double tracking of certain sections of the lines."

RAIL STANDARDISATION

"That in view of the vast potentialities of railway development in China, and with special reference to the efforts now being made by the Chinese Government, with the assistance of an international advisory committee; to standardise the national railway system this Conference regards it as a matter of primary importance that British engineering and technical skill, as applied to railway construction and equipment, should be adequately represented in this country, and commends this view to the careful consideration of manufacturers in the United Kingdom."

MAIL SERVICE

"That while gladly recognising that there has recently been some improvement in the mail service between China and the United Kingdom this Conference desires to call attention to the fact that it is still subject to frequent delays and is deplorably irregular, and urges the responsible authorities to make every effort to put the service on a satisfactory basis."

AFTERNOON SESSION

"That this Conference welcomes the formation of the new Consortium and especially the proposal to invite Chinese financial co-operation in its workings which, it believes, will meet the criticism that the new Consortium only represents foreign financial interests. That this Conference believes that while China's financial re-establishment lies in her own hands and cannot be entirely effected from without, the new Consortium should be of the greatest service to the Chinese people and foreign trade."

DEFINITION OF "SHIPMENT"

"This Conference is of opinion that in view of the utmost importance attaching to the standardisation of the clauses on Bills of Lading relating to "Shipment," every effort should be made to obtain unanimity of opinion on the point not only among Chambers of Commerce throughout the East, but also if possible in all Countries.

"With this object in view this Conference recommends that a Special Committee be appointed by the Associated British Chambers of Commerce in China and Hongkong consisting of one representative of each of the shipping, banking and merchant interests (with power to add to their number) to enquire into and make recommendations to this Association on all questions relating to the term 'Shipment,' also 'responsibilities of shipowners in connection with Bills of Lading.'

Comment Of Chinese Press On Election In America

Deep interest was manifested by the local Chinese press in the American presidential election. Full reports of the returns were published and a number of the publications yesterday made editorial commcats on the succes of Senator Harding.

REPUBLICAN NEWS POINTS TO JAPAN

The Republican Daily News editorial was as follows:

"The cause of the overwhelming victory of the Republican Party in the present American presidential election doubtless was the endorsement by the American people of its platform.

"Following the conclusion of the world war, the action of the Republican Congressmen on the questions of the League of Nations and the Shantung issue was taken in the interest of humanity. 'We still recall these happy incidents of which we are all most grateful.' Now that their party has become victorious, they will assume administrative power.

"When we note the victory of the Republican we see also the decided views of the American people. Wilson's 14 points brought out before the conclusion of the war a brilliant light to the dark world. With this light, the Republicans at once set to work to find a path toward permanen peace.

"They censored the organisation of the proposed league of nations. They advocated a big army and a strong navy. Plank by plank they built their party platform for the people to endorse or to reject. Today their platform is endorsed by the majority. On that platform, the American people will now stage their national drama.

"The vote cast indicates the strong will of the American people. The will must be interesting to all nations of the world, especially Japan. Japan's demands on the Californian questions can no longer be tolerated by the United States.

U.S. AND CHINA AGREED

"Harding, his party and now the American people advocate a strong navy and a big army. It is usual for a nation to recruit her army and build her navy in comparison with the strength of her rival power. Who was the rival that the United States has chosen as her standard? We do not desire to use names, but we are sure that none of the European countries was taken as the standard.

"We Chinese people are not expecting that justice must reign throughout the world in order that our treaties with other powers, devoid of the principle of equity, may be abrogated! We are not recognising the Republican party as a party built on the principles of justice, because it had adopted a just policy in the settlement of the Shantung issue! Nor are we seeking for justice through outside channels!

"History tells us that the movement of one nation is bound to effect all others. The victory of the Republicans can not but have a good result on the people of China. We all know how important the relations of the Pacific countries has been and will be in the future. Up to the present there has been conflict and dissension but the United States and China are agreed on the issue."

SHUN PAO HAS HOPES FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The Shun Pao said:

"The world war terminated earlier than we expected on account of the entry of the United States. The peace of the world will hereafter depend in a great measure on the future policy of the United States. In this connection the views of the newly-elected President of the country must necessarily have important bearing on the world situation.

"In the interest of peace and humanity we hope that the new president will greet the family of nations through the newly inaugurated League of Nations and cope with the world situation on terms of equity and justice so that all countries may be ushered to the road of peace, adjust their differences in good faith, eliminate future warfare and establish permanent peace for mankind.

"In expressing our hopes, we are not only voicing the sentiments of the people, whose relations with the American people have been particularly friendly but also those of the other nations, who are all, we are sure full of hopes that the election of the new president is another step toward right and justice for the world at large."

LEAGUE IS DOOMED, SAYS NEW SHUN PAO

The New Shun Pao has the following comment:

"It is human nature to love peace. Now that the great war has concluded, men are ever more anxious for peace and are looking for a body or an object which may offer protection to permanent peace. The League of Nations was advocated by President Wilson as a body which he hoped would give such securities. But today when the league is actually established, the question arises as to whether or not the league can give this protection.

"President Wilson participated in the conference at Versailles. He saw the actual conditions in world affairs which were far from what he expected to find in Europe. He was content to leave the peace table and recognise the league merely as a step towards permanent peace. This was Wilson's misfortune and his party of Democrats had no alternative but to endorse his views.

"The Republican party holds that the league should not only give protection to the world's permanent peace but also to the national interests of the different countries. It refused to join the league on the ground that the league failed to do either. Its objection is justified.

"The present election was a battle of the platforms of the two parties and the victory of the Republican party and President-elect Harding is expressive of the popular opinion on the league which may hereafter have less influence than it was intended to have.

EASTERN TIMES GLAD HARDING IS EDITOR

The Eastern Times commented on the fact that President-Elect is an editor and incidently paid a tribute to the journalistic profession. It says:

"The President-elect of the United States is a journalist. For that we congratulate the people of America. There is no man on earth who knows the conditions of the people better or who has to overcome greater difficulties in life than a newspaperman.

"The journalist knows the world situation. He is read. He has a sacred mission. The election of a journalist in America, therefore, adds one more interesting chapter to American history.

"Journalism as a profession in China is still in its infancy. We hope that men of the profession will hereafter be encouraged by the record of President-elect Harding that they, too may bring glory to our profession as has Mr. Harding."

Japanese Editors' Views

Tokio, November 5.—Comment in the leading newspapers on the American elections is principally confined to their probable effect on the League of Nations. No doubt is expressed in the good-faith of the American Government with regard to the California question.

The Kokumin says: "Such Presidents as Roosevelt and Taft commanded such knowledge of Japan and the Japanese and showed such profound sympathy with the Japanese cause that the Japanese feel justified in placing implicit confidence in the new President."

The Asahi says: "There is reason to think that the new Administration will be more favorable to Japan because it tends towards the centralisation of power against the power of State legislatures."

The Chuo says: "The transfer of the Presidency is not likely to occasion any change in the policy of America towards Japan. The Republicans, when in power eight years ago, acted with Japan in China and the Gentlemen's Agreement was concluded. Japan will therefore have the feeling of dealing with an old acquaintance."

The press anticipates greater American activity in China and more strenuous efforts to implant America's influence in the Far East and warns the Japanese to be more watchful.

FRANCE REDUCES DEBT

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 30 (delayed).—That the work of repaying the French National Debt is well under way is illustrated by the appearance of the new heading, "Amortisation account," in the weekly statement of the Bank of France. The amount to the credit side of this account reaches for the past week nearly 14,000,000 francs, which figure, it is expected, will increase steadily in future.

SETTLEMENT MEN STOP CHAPEI FIRE

Three dwelling houses were gutted and two others damaged by fire over the boundary on North Szechuen Road Extension yesterday afternoon, the Settlement Department staging a splendid fight against the blaze after the Hongkew Division found five houses afire upon their arrival. The Settlement firemen were at work before the Chapei men arrived although the fire was in Chinese territory. The burned buildings were in a block at the west of North Szechuen Road Extension.

On Poker And Presidents

WELL, fellow Americans, it begins to look like the United States is safe for another four years. It has been saved repeatedly in the last 144 years, of course, but it is good to know that it has been saved again. It has got into the habit of being saved every four years and probably the old hulk will stagger along getting itself saved every four years from now till doomsday.

It turns out that the new President-elect, is a good poker player. Our suspicions in this regard had been aroused by the speeches he made during the campaign, but they are now fully confirmed on the personal testimony of Mr. William H. Crawford, well known publicist and poker player, who cheerfully admits that our President-to-be over a period of 25 years, has defeated him in the great national game with a regularity that has long since ceased to be either astonishing or funny.

Hard times will be our lot only when the unsuccessful poker players succeed in electing their man President. And inasmuch as nobody will admit that he is an unsuccessful poker player, the position is that the successful poker players will continue to elect the Presidents of the United States.

Mr. Crawford while admitting that Senator Harding is his superior at poker, claims that he himself has been fairly successful at the game. Otherwise he would not have continued to play it. Naturally.

One learns a lot about one's fellowmen in 25 years of close association at poker. Not only about poker and poker playing, either. Mr. Crawford wrote his story of Senator Harding for the New York Times, which was a firm and uncompromising supporter of Governor Cox. He had many nice things to say about our new President notwithstanding the poker episodes. In the following we give, in part, his pen picture:

We always want to visualise a public character. What does he look like is uppermost in our minds. As you observe Harding from a distance, you are first impressed by his courtly and dignified manner. He has the appearance of a before-the-war Mississippi River planter, or he might have stepped bodily out of one of Miss Edgeworth's novels. His dress is immaculate, his clothes well pressed, well cut and of good material; his carriage graceful—a typical oldschool gentleman. As you approach him you observe that he greets you with a winning smile, unduly showing a beautiful set of well-kept teeth. At the same time his eyes light up, and his right hand automatically extends in cordial greeting. It is not just the politician's handshake, but is inspired directly from a kindly and unsoured heart. His mouth is large and the corners inclined to turn down, a slightly Roman nose, eyes set wide apart in a broad face, big ears inclined to sit close to his head, and a high forehead. The thinness of his iron-gray hair makes it problematical as to where his forehead ends, and this head is set upon a broad pair of athletic shoulders. Withal he appears to be a benignant, courtly, well-dressed gentleman.

His personality is in exact keeping with his appearance. He has ever found it easier to go round an obstacle than to climb over it. Henry Clay's title, "The Great Compromiser," fits Harding perfectly. There is nothing of the Roosevelt in his makeup. He believes in accomplishing his ends by moral suasion, and, to borrow a business termination, is apt to be the suasee when he comes in contact with a dominating personality. He makes no enemies; everybody who knows him likes him. Everybody regards him as a personal friend. He has a way of making you feel that he is.

I was seated in his office one day when a young man from Ohio came in. He was a department clerk and had received a telegram from home that his mother was expected to die. He poured out his tale of woe in the Senator's ear as if he were talking to a near relative, and the Senator showed so much solicitude (he also gave him a substantial check for expenses home) that I supposed the boy was either related to him or a son of one of his oldest friends. Much to my surprise, after the youngster had gone, the Senator turned to me and said: "Did you catch that young man's name? I did not." I am sure that the boy thought that the Senator regarded him as a personal friend, who was willing to assist him because of this friendship.

The trend of his mind is along the beaten path. As President he will blaze no new trails. He is no worshipper at the shrine of the "god of things as they ought to be." Upheavals and unrest disturb the tranquillity of his mind.

His speaking voice is soft and low and melodious, but can be sonorous and resounding when he reaches his peroration. He is an excellent orator and expresses himself well. He has a fine vocabulary which he uses with just discrimination. His oratory more resembles Cicero than Demosthenes. His polished sentences sound well, but there is nothing of the "Let us fight, Philip," in his addresses. He will not, like Wilson, antagonise the "powers that be" in the Senate, but will work in perfect harmony with them. The White House and the Capitol will jog along perfectly in double harness. Even the Democrats will be his friends. If there is a difference of opinion between the Executive and the legislative bodies, they will meet half-way with mutual good-will and felicitations. His election will bring about a second political era of good feelings. There will be no usurpation of Executive authority, but probably a very decided lessening of Presidential control. He will be perfectly satisfied to stay at his end of the "street."

His home life is ideal. Senator and Mrs. Harding are as much sweethearts as they were when they were married. She is a home body. The position of a Senator's wife forces her into a certain amount of social prominence, but her heart is in the home, and the Senator is her pet hobby. She does not go in for the ultra-fashionable set, dresses neatly, but never in the extreme. She spends most of her time making the Senator comfortable and contented, for she believes that is her share of the matrimonial bargain. In his absence her conversation is always punctuated by "the Senator says" or "the Senator likes to do this or that," or "the Senator approves so and so." Her devotion is duly appreciated and reciprocated by him.

Their tastes have much in common, and they spend most of their evenings in their library. The Senator reads aloud while she does fancy work. Their home in Wyoming Avenue, Washington, is a big house, but it is also a home in the best and truest sense of the word. Mrs. Harding makes friends with the Senator's friends. His interests are her interests. They lead a quiet, natural, smooth-sailing, ideal life. Guests are always welcome in their home. The Senator is well read and prepared to discuss almost any subject, but he usually lets his visitor lead the conversation, in which he is neither dogmatic nor dictatorial. Whatever stand you take on the subject the Senator can usually find some good point on your side with which he can truthfully agree.

I do not wish to give the impression that the Senator is a goody-goody kind of a man, because he is not. He is religious, but not too religious. He is pious, but not saintly, and is no second edition of Bryan. He is a regular member and officer of the Baptist Church, which he attends regularly; but his religion has not made him an ascetic. His wings have not begun to sprout, and he wears no halo—except in the eyes of his wife. He is not shocked to hear you say "Damn!" and can say it himself if the occasion demand, and is an adept at the good American game of draw poker. I know, because he has a few of my dollars now; thus you see that religion has not gone to his head.

He is interested in all good works. He assisted in the Red Cross drive, giving largely of his means and of his valuable time to the cause. At the time of the United War Work Campaign he wrote an appeal to the citizens of Ohio at my request, urging them to help the cause, which did much to swell the contributions from that State. He assists every endeavor the motive of which is the social or moral uplift of the people, and yet some pious brethren will be shocked to learn Brother Harding plays poker.

THE REAL SUCCESS

It isn't power or wealth or fame;
It's holding fast to an honored name;
It's doing right in the face of sneers;
It's putting might in the place of fears;
It's helping others to happiness—
That means success!
Not always crowned by a laurel wreath,
It may be held by the man beneath
Who's shabby, but yet has the inner glow
Of the eyes that see, and the heart to know
That it's serving your fellows amid the stress—
That mean success.

AND THAT REMINDS ME

The conversation around the dinner table ended, as do most conversations now-a-days, with the subject of spiritualism. The guest and the members of the family gave their opinions as to whether the dead could communicate with the living, but it remained for "Sweet Sixteen" to present the only original thought on the subject. "It's hard enough now for me to keep up my correspondence," she said. "When I die I want a rest."

A TALL STORY

They were big game hunters and they were trotting out their stock of "reminiscences." When each had told his best lie, the only member of the party who had never been to Africa was asked to tell a story.

"Well, I am afriad I have nothing very exciting to tell you," he piped in a small thin voice. "I once had a small affair with a lion, but he was only a lion escaped from a menagerie. He bounded on me as he got clear of his enclosure—and, well, of course, I wasn't armed!"

"What on earth did you do?" chorused the others.

"Well" retorted the little man, "I just seized his lower jaw with my right hand and his upper jaw with my left and held his mouth open—till he starved.

A WHISTLER REMARK

LINES FROM LETTERS

Dear Bill: We live in peculiar times. Everything is topsy turvy. Six months ago we were told by the leaders of our nation that prices would soon alter. They have. They have gone higher. It is rumored that in America some prices have fallen but I fancy that was an electioneering dodge of Harding's supporters. As a matter of fact, Bill, the price of drinks has gone down in the U.S.A. The price of drinks has gone down so much that the drink that they are serving won't go down at all.

Bill, here we are in China. They are putting up everything. Only today I saw some fellows putting up tall poles. Why, the prices are creeping up so high that soon we will have to live on luxuries. They tell us that it is all due to the war. But the war has brought out one good thing. An American has invented a noiseless gun. What do you think of that. If there is one thing that I hate is the noisy trench mortar. Well that is to be a thing of the past. They used to give many a gallant warrior insomnia. If the noiseless gun only becomes known the next war will not lack recruits. Travel along Nanking Road about midday and the noise—well, Bill, war will be peace after it. Just one other thing. Let one of us get busy in inventing a noiseless sergeant major. Yours, Alf.

England's Real Conflict

Between Co-operatives And Private Traders, Says Recent Observer

BY THOMAS H. UZZELL

The island which is England is today an interesting business laboratory for Americans to watch. It possesses a smaller and more compact community than ours; it has no "anti-trust" laws, and, because of British genius for political organisation and compromise, it is about one jump ahead of us in discovering new social theories in connection with making things and selling them. And of all the large-scale experiments being conducted by the English people today none is more significant and important than the co-operative movement.

The co-operative movement is more than significant; it is stirring; it is dramatic. A big fight is on. The English co-operators, numbering nearly a tenth of the population, proclaim it their intention to exterminate all private traders. The private traders have accepted the challenge, are well organised and financed and are stoutly defending the competitive methods of trade that have won England her commercial greatness.

Americans from their distant point of view are apt to think that the chief menace to the established order of business in England is Bolshevism. A closer inspection shows this not to be so. English labor has unitedly expressed itself as opposed to direct action to gain its objectives. Bolshevism, being ugly and melodramatic, guarantees that we hear much about it in our newspapers, but the big business story from England has to do with differences about an economic or business rather than a political theory.

Competition versus Co-operation. These are the antagonists. They are staging the big conflict in England. The English private trader says: "Only competition can keep the best brains and abilities in charge of business, stimulate invention, compel progress in trade and guarantee maximum service to the publice." Co-operation replies: "The great error of competition is that it organises the producer to exploit the consumer. Consumption is more important than production. By organising the consumer to produce his own necessities you make exploitation impossible, because the consumer will not exploit himself. Such co-operation may not produce the best abilities, and it may not render a maximum service, but it saves the people's money, which is more important."

Such are the theories in conflict. Now for a glance at the forces actually involved. In what follows I shall speak mainly of the co-operative movement—this because the extent of its power and its novel methods are but little understood on our side of the ocean, and because its opponents, the private traders, are much the same, in traditions and practice, as our own.

My interest in this subject arose from a visit to Manchester last Winter. I "dropped in" on the co-operative headquarters in that bustling, Americanised city of Lancashire. I confess that I was amazed by what I saw—six solid blocks of imposing warehouses and offices spread out in the very center of the city. These buildings housed the so-called "Co-operative Wholesale Society" or "C. W. S.," as it is popularly called. I interviewed several of the leading officials, and this is what I learned:

The co-operative movement is composed of three main co-ordinated divisions—the retail stores, the wholesale warehouses and the factories. The 1,200 retail stores scattered over the British Isles form the base of the pyramid of organisation. They are owned by some 4,000,000 co-operative consumers, who hold shares costing £1 each. No co-operator may hold more than 200 shares. The seven wholesale societies are owned and managed by a federation of the retail stores. The hundred productive establishments, in turn, are owned and managed mainly by the wholesale organisation.

The C. W. S. has its own bank located in Manchester. In order to coalesce and promote all the activities of the co-operative movement there is another collateral organisation called the Co-operative Union, which is financed by the C. W. S. and spends its energies in "propaganda and education." This union possesses its own building in Manchester. From a visit with the head of this union I learned two things of importance: Believing that the co-operative movement is not receiving fair treatment at the hands of Parliament, it has recently been "forced" to enter the political field with its own Co-operative Party, with the result that its own candidates are now appearing in the by-elections and one Co-operative candidate has already taken his seat in the House of Commons.

The other thing is education. The union has established in the retail stores kindergartens, grammar schools, high schools, to teach co-operative principles. It had just appropriated a large sum to establish a university for the same purpose, "a university on the scale of Oxford."

In order to understand the importance of an economic business theory you have to listen to statistics, and impressive totals were given me by the publicity department in Manchester. The high lights among these figures are as follows:

The co-operative movement had in 1918 a membership of nearly 4,000,000 shareholders, a share and loan capital of $388,000,000 and an annual sales trade of approximately one and a quarter billion dollars. It also gives work to 164,000 employes, whose collective wages and salaries bill equaled in 1918 some $70,000,000 a year.

Though the growth of the movement since the first year of the war has been rapid, the sales having nearly doubled in that time, the net surplus in 1918 was lower than that of 1917 by $2,390,000. The cause of this decrease in surplus, it was explained to me, was the high price of labor and materials and the smaller margin between cost and the immediate charge to members, societies having given more immediate benefit to purchaser at the expense of the quarterly return.

Some idea of the competition in production furnished private enterprise by the English co-operative movement is contained in the fact that the Co-operative Wholesale Society (whose sales in 1919 amounted to $437,400,000) owns and operates over 100 productive establishments, the value of whose products in 1919 totaled about $126,360,000. These workshops produce foodstuffs and kindred commodities, textiles, clothing, underwear and footwear, furniture, utensils and household requisites.

More land and factories and docks, worth from three to five million dollars, are being bought each year by the Co-operative Wholesale.

The turnover (deposits and withdrawing) of the C. W. S. Bank in 1919 reached over £500,000,000, or, normally, nearly two and a half billion dollars.

Skeptics assert that the co-operative movement cannot succeed. The co-operatives have an answer: The co-operative movement has been succeeding for sixty years.

The success which is indicated by such figures as the above is evidenced by the expansion of the society during recent years in the field of foreign trade. It now owns and operates sixteen tea plantations of 16,000 acres in India and Ceylon, a wheat estate of over 10,000 acres in Canada, while its farms, estates and lands in England cover some 10,000 acres.

The co-operative movement has passed the corner grocery stage, but it has not reached world trade dimensions without some difficulties. One of the main problems has been lack of capital. This is chiefly due to the fact that the number of shares which an individual may hold in a co-operative enterprise is limited by law to £200, or roughly $1,000. But the law does not prevent such an enterprise from placing loans, or making bond issues to secure additional capital. Within the last year the C. W. S. has floated two issues of development bonds, totaling $36,450,000, though to date not all of this amount has been taken up.

Lack of capital is not, however, the chief handicap against which the British Co-operatives are working. The greatest difficulty, their officials declare, is to persuade the individual purchasing member to leave a sufficient amount of his surplus in the store to be capitalized for the financing of the business of the store. When the quarterly "dividend" is declared, the workingman—or his wife—promptly spends it. To counteract this tendency is one of the tasks of the Co-operative Union in Manchester. The union is now teaching the rationale of industrial investments as a course in the curricula of its schools.

The presence of keen selling competition from American retailers is given by a leading British merchant as the main reason why co-operative salesmanship cannot succeed in the States. The co-operative movement, he explained, secured its strong hold on Great Britain because the art of retail salesmanship was not very far advanced.

The growth and size of the co-operative movement in Great Britain have been given emphasis recently in the British press because of an official proposal to tax the profits of co-operative enterprises. One of the most debatable of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Income Tax is to tax the reserve funds of co-operative societies while admitting that dividend on purchases is really discount, and to exempt it acordingly. In other words, of the "net profits" declared at the end of a given period, that part which is paid to the shareholders as "dividend" would not be taxed, while that part which is put back into the business would be taxed.

The private traders, sensing the danger to them in this partial immunity to be permitted the co-operators, are agitating for a tax on either dividend—however distributed—or "turnover," i. e., sales. Powerful trade bodies like the Federation of British Industries, which represents some $15,000,000,000 of capital, are opposing the pressure which the co-operative group are bringing to bear on Parliament. An organisation of the leading private trade organisations of England called the Amalgamated Trades Association, has also mobilised membership and money for the campaign against co-operation. The avowed objects of this association are "to maintain the right of freedom of individual trading, to demonstrate to the public the grave national danger of the elimination of the private trader, to combat any political or other agency whose object is to eliminate private trading, and to maintain in all branches of trade the principle of competition which in the past has proved to be of the greatest benefit to the nation."

Opposed to this attack is an alliance between the politically organised labor movement, the economically organised co-operative movement and the industrially organised trade union movement. "We in the co-operative movement have our propagandist machinery," say the alliance members, "we have our political machinery, we have our press and a variety of means of expressing ideas. Now, it is a question of simply defending our faith. We shall probably not be able to secure preferential treatment, but, if we fight for it, we may at least get fair play, and if we get only that, the movement will gradually supplant even the biggest of the private concerns."

This basis of the co-operators' opposition to the tax is their contention that all surplus arising from mutual trade, whether divided or collectively used, form one fund which is not income, but savings on spendings. Hitherto the profits of the co-operative stores and factories have been partially immune from income tax because pervious Chancellors, guided by the expert opinion of the Inland Revenue authorities, agreed that surpluses on members' mutual trading did not provide funds which could be properly taxed. Now, however, the new Finance bill, which is being debated by Parliament, specifically declares that "Profits shall include in the case of mutual trading concerns the surplus arising from transactions with members." If this bill becomes a law the co-operators will have no argument in the courts. The ground will be cut from beneath their feet.

Whether or not this arbitrary definition of "profits" will be incorporated into the bill as passed, the co-operators are not optimistic about a continuation of their past immunity. They know the State's need of revenue to pay war bills. Great Britain is just now rounding the corner in her post-war finances and the Chancellor of the Exchequer has announced his plans for securing $1,000,000,000 surplus by next Spring. His attitude in the struggle is evident in his reception of a delegation of co-operators who recently waited upon him in Whitehall to lodge protest against the proposed Finance bill.

The Chancellor replied with suitable dignity, but the substance of his remarks was about as follows:

"You co-operators in the past have shown a most convincing power of growth and an increasing tendency to absorb private business. Since you have hitherto been practically immune from taxation, you have thus been rendering a greater and greater amount of the trading activity of the nation untaxable. No one knows how far you will go. But if you go much further there will soon be a sizable hole in the national pocketbook. Therefore the Chancellor is not over-zealous about the accuracy of definitions of profits. His main purpose is to devise some plan whereby a part of this $15,000,000 surplus of yours may flow into the national treasury."

Correspondence

Dear Sir.—I observe that from the list of proceeds of the Concert-Dance held on May 27 last in aid of the League of Russian Officers' Charity Fund, which you have so kindly published in this morning's THE CHINA PRESS, the final total is omitted.

May I ask you, therefore, in order to complete the record, to kindly mention in your columns that the sum-total attained as a result of the Concert-Dance was $7,531.13 (seven thousand five hundred and thirty one dollars and thirteen cents), a gratifying response indeed to this particular appeal to Shanghai's generosity, for which the Committee has been very grateful.

I am, dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
S. W. WOLFE.

Chefoo-Weihsien Highway Is Officially Dedicated

Two Thousand Persons Hear Addresses When Earth Is Broken For Road Direct To Chefoo

(China Press Correspondence)

Weihsien, Shantung, November 1.—Today, November 1, at 3:30 p.m. the official inauguration of the Chefoo-Weihsien highway was held outside the north east gate of the East Suburb of Weihsien City. A large mat shed had been erected on the field and at the Weihsien terminus of the road. The shed was magnificently decorated within and without with flags, evergreens, and banners presented by the gentry of the city and suburbs. There were three rooms, one at either end fitted with tables and chairs and a large central room in which was erected a platfrom from which speeches were made by several of the invited guests.

Addresses were made by a Japanese official and translated into Chinese, an American missionary in Chinese and several by Chinese representatives from the gentry and commercial guilds of Weihsien. Mr. Djao Dei-san, the official engineer of the road explained in detail the magnitude of the work which has been begun and the many advantages which such a road will bring to the peoples of the districts through which the road passes.

ROAD DIRECT TO CHEFOO

The road is to extend from Weihsien City direct to Chefoo following in general direction the present cart road to the latter port. It is to be made of dirt and raised above the surrounding country. The width will be about fifty feet and constructed in such a way as to be used by automobiles for both passengers and freight. A toll system will be used to insure the upkeep of the work and an appropriation of between $30,000 and $35,000 per annum has been asked for repairing. Stations are to be erected every five or seven li and a force of seven or eight men are to be kept at these stations. These men are to have charge of the road between the stations, policing and keeping it is good condition.

REFUGEES EMPLOYED

Work on the road has already been commenced by six hundred refugees from the famine districts of north western Shantung and more men are expected daily. The graves along the proposed and surveyed road are being dug up and the contents removed. Permission and the help of the gentry of the city has been asked to build a macademised road through the East Suburb of Weihsien City connecting up the main highway with the Santos R. R. station at Weihsien. This will mean the tearing out of a great number of houses and shops in order to widen the present road and will necessitate the expenditure of a large sum of money but it is hoped that the business men will realise the advantages of such a project and help towards its culmination.

ATTENDANCE IS 2,000

After the speeches the first spade of earth was turned, accompanied by cheers and fireworks. Following this the invited guests were taken to one of the rooms in the mat shed and refreshments provided by the Grand Hotel of Tsinan were served.

There were between 2,000 and 3,000 people in attendance including the students of the government schools of Weihsien City and the East Suburb, the Point Breeze Academy and East Shantung Bible School of the American Presbyterian Mission, the local gentry, and representatives of the Santos R. R. and members of the American Presbyterian Mission.

The headquarters of the road project is located in the East Suburb of Weihsien. Mr. Djao Dei-san a Christian and a former student of the Southern Baptist Mission in Pingtu, is the chief engineer and director of the work. He is assisted by a number of well trained and equipped men who have had special training in road building. Mr. Djao is an experienced man especially in building road beds for railroads. Among the staff of workers are four Chinese physicians, graduates of the Shantung Christian University School of Medicine, Tsinan, who are to have charge of the sanitary arrangements of the crew of workmen and also treat any sickness among those engaged in this work.

A 2-YEAR '4th OF JULY'

South American Republics Prepare To Celebrate Their Independence

(From the Boston Transcript)

The independence centennial season has opened for Spanish and Portuguese America. From the present date through into 1922—the continent will celebrate, in the various republics that comprise it—what well may be termed one long "Fourth of July." In fashions strange and many, the one hundredth anniversary of the constitution of the nations into free republics will find fitting commemoration, not only in poems, ceremonies, speeches and the more transient evidences of festive moods, but in the erection of buildings, monuments and other more durable tokens of civic rejoicing.

Take, for example, the budding arrangements for Brazil's celebration. Although the actual date does not fall until the month of September 1922, detailed plans have already been made and their completion entered upon. The celebration will be of international scope, since nations of the two Americas will be invited, as well, as certain of the European countries; as in the case of our own Pilgrim tercentenary, there will be historical and dramatic pageants, symbolising the various stages in the progress of the republic as well as picturesque characteristics of the too little known nations.

The government intends to stimulate native composers by offering prizes for an opera of national import, as well as for a national hymn: Brazilian dramatists will be similary encouraged to produce plays of autochthonous flavor. It is intended also to organise a national operatic company, to tour the chief cities of the country.

A massive Pantheon is to be erected in Rio de Janeiro: pedagogics is to be given a powerful impulse by the institution of a so-called professorial university; museums of history are to be erected. And since Brazilians, no less than their northern brethren, have an eye to business as well as to art, even now hotels are being constructed to accommodate the immense crowd of visitors that is expected.

It is of interest to note that citizens of the United States residing in Brazil have caught the fervor of the national mood and have offered to present a commemorative monument to the republic.

"PRICELESS"
is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

Market Report

CHEFOO MARKET PRICES.

Chefoo, October 25, 1920.—The prices on 10-38 Capnets and 38-40 Fringenets have fallen slightly. This is not to be considered as a general lowering of prices, but the natural rise and fall, due to the supplies from the country varying in quantity.

The European market has started in buying and will soon return to its old position as a large consumer of Human Hairnets.

The U. S. has bought sueh large quantities of inferior nets in the past few months that it will take some time to dispose of this large quantity of unexamined nets.

Hairnet prices today are as follows:

		Mex.
Capnets	10-38	$3.10
Capnets	12-38	3.50
Capnets	12-42	4.00
Fringenets	38-40	4.30
Fringenets	44-46	5.50

The only size nets offered in the open market are 10-38 and 38-40's; the other sizes can be secured only on contract.
